Aprašymas:

NOTE: We are not ONLY interested in just Java or Javascript developers but several programming languages. If you have been invited to this jobpost please consider it.

Ammi Group is cluster of several companies involved in application development and consulting.

We range from management consultants to java-developers and IT-security experts and thrive to offer our employees and consultants the markets best offer both in terms of salary and partnerships with our several start-ups.

Currently, we have several clients looking for assistance in their projects and therefore we are looking to increase our overall staff with consultants that either work in-house or at our clients sites.

We are looking for developers, architects and software engineers that can come and work monday-friday or monday-thursday at our office/or client in Stockholm. We cover all expenses for apartment and travel.

Dont wait, contact us now.
