Aprašymas:

Our international team is developing a trading platform for the global metal recycling industry.

This will be a disruption of the way business is being done in recycling worldwide.

We need some extra hands and some talent developing our React.js web client and our React Native mobile clients.

Therefore we are looking for junior developers with talent that want to work hard on an interesting project and while doing so become a better developer and become a seriously good React (Native) developer. You'll be working in Kaunas and possibly in Holland.

You should

- have some background as well as talent in software development
- have examples of technical challenges you have encountered recently.
- be comfortable with Agile principles
- be interested in React and willing to learn

Our Offer

- Being part of revolution in worldwide metal recycling

- Work in an international team of talented, motivated people that actually enjoy what they are doing
- A lot of freedom to contribute to different features and apps creatively: we actually encourage our people to develop their own initiatives
- A competitive salary
- work in flat structure, the founder/CEO is developing alongside the team
- work abroad
- the best tools for the job
- work in a startup that's part of solid healthy company
- work on a product that is already used in 50 countries

Location

Our office in the Arka building in Kaunas, Lithuania
