Aprašymas

About the Role

We are looking for an experienced Senior Business Analyst / Lead Business Analyst to join our client's team on a remote basis.

This is a strategically important role for a professional who can lead complex business analysis initiatives, work effectively with senior stakeholders, and translate business needs and data-driven insights into meaningful organisational outcomes.

The successful candidate will play a key role in steering major business analysis initiatives that support strategic objectives, improve business processes, and contribute to sustainable organisational success.

Key Responsibilities

- Executive Business Analysis Leadership
- Lead major business analysis initiatives with significant organisational impact, ensuring alignment with business strategy, priorities, and objectives.
- Strategic Documentation & Reporting
- Develop high-level business analysis documentation, executive reports, presentations, and recommendations to support strategic planning and informed decision-making.
- Senior Stakeholder Engagement

- Partner with executive and senior stakeholders to understand strategic priorities, align business analysis objectives with organisational goals, and communicate complex findings clearly.
- Process Innovation & Improvement
- Identify opportunities to improve business analysis practices, methodologies, and processes, establishing standards that promote efficiency, consistency, and effectiveness.
- Data-Driven Leadership
- Lead and coordinate data analysis initiatives, ensuring that insights are translated into actionable recommendations and measurable business impact.
- Strategic Alignment
- Ensure business analysis activities remain closely connected to organisational strategy and contribute to long-term business objectives.

What We're Looking For

- Extensive experience in business analysis, preferably in complex or large-scale organisations.
- Proven experience leading strategic or high-impact business analysis initiatives.
- Strong ability to communicate with and influence senior and executive stakeholders.
- Excellent analytical and problem-solving skills.
- Experience producing executive-level documentation, reports, and presentations.
- Strong understanding of business processes, requirements analysis, and process improvement.
- Experience working with data and translating analytical insights into business recommendations.
- Ability to operate effectively in a remote and cross-functional environment.
- Strong communication, stakeholder management, and leadership skills.
- Strategic mindset with the ability to connect detailed analysis to broader organisational objectives.

What You'll Do

In this role, you will operate at both a strategic and analytical level, connecting business objectives, stakeholder needs, processes, and data. You will have the opportunity to influence major initiatives and help shape how business analysis is performed across the organisation.

If you are an experienced business analysis professional who enjoys working on complex challenges, engaging with senior stakeholders, and driving meaningful business improvements, we would be interested in hearing from you.
