Description:

We are looking for Mobile developer for our client - Scandinavian marketplace with around 12,3M monthly active users generating 85 million sessions. They are proud of their work to enable the second-hand trade and contribute to a positive environmental impact.

What you'll be up to

Together with the team you'll work on both new features and maintenance, to continuously modernise the app - with millions of users. They work in Kotlin and Java on Android, Swift and Objective-C on iOS and strive to write maintainable, clear code that is testable, and we use continuous integration and code reviews to ensure we get it right.

Their apps have undergone many design and technical revisions. When they see a new technology or pattern that may benefit their apps and product they don't hesitate to become early adopters and position themselves ahead of the curve.

Skills & Requirements

Who are you?

- We believe you are a seasoned developer with some hands-on experience of Android or iOS development working in a team.
- You are able to independently lead the development of new features, and enjoy discussing and debating code and solutions with your peers.

- You like sharing your knowledge with your team and junior developers and above all, you are curious and continuously strive to learn new things.
