Apie Mane

I study Software Engineering at Vilnius university, and I am currently employed as a Web Developer at Tieto. My experience includes full-stack development with Grails/ExtJS and front-end development with AngularJS working on internal projects. In company we work according to Agile (Scrum), and my other experience involves supporting big applications i. e. solving technical support tickets. Also I am interested in React.js, Node.js, even though I have no prior work experience with them.
